

C. F. and Grace Ning Awards for Travel and Research in Chinese Studies

The Center for Chinese Studies announces its 'C. F. and Grace Ning Awards in Chinese Studies' faculty and graduate student travel and research funding competition for 2019.

(1) The current competition is for funding to support activities carried out between March 1, 2019, and December 15, 2019.

(2) Disbursement of funds will be made on the basis of receipts submitted for reimbursement. All paperwork for reimbursement of expenses must be submitted by Dec 31, 2019; otherwise, it will be assumed that the award has been declined.

(3) Required application materials include:

- PDF application form;
- Statement (half-page to full page) discussing what you intend to do with Ning Fund support, and the potential benefit to Chinese Studies of your activity;
- Budget, with specific details, that describes the lowest available cost of your pro-posed activity; the maximum award amount will be $1500;
- Copy of invitation letter, conference paper acceptance letter, or conference announcement if applying to use funds to travel to a conference or other event;
- Graduate students: please also submit one letter of recommendation from a faculty member.

(4) All materials must be submitted electronically; that is, submit the application form and all supporting documents (PDF file preferred) by e-mail to china@hawaii.edu. Deadline for receipt of materials is 5:00 p.m. on Friday, Jan 25, 2019.

(5) Funding results are expected to be announced by the middle of February.

Chung-fong & Grace Ning Chinese Studies Fund

Personal data

First Name: _____ Last Name: _____

Address: _____

City: _____ State: _____ Zip: _____

Telephone: o: _____ h: _____

E-mail: _____

Academic profile (For faculty)

Department _____ Tenured? Yes ☐ No ☐

Lect/Inst ☐ Asst P ☐ Assc P ☐ Prof ☐ Other: _____

(For graduate students)

Department: _____ Level: MA ☐ PhD ☐

Proposed activity

Amount requested: $ _____

Purpose of funding: Travel ☐ Project ☐ Other: _____

Dates/period covered: From: _____ To: _____

To which other sources of funding are you applying for this activity? What other funding have you received for this project?

Name of funding source

Date of notification

Please list any previous conference attendance in the last 24 months, and indicate whether your attendance was with or without financial support; if with support, indicate amount and source.

Please submit a half- to full-page statement discussing what you intend to do with Ning Fund support, and the potential benefit to Chinese Studies of your activity. Other than books or articles, what other tangible results do you expect? How will your project be beneficial or available to the university or general public? Also, provide a budget, with specific details, that describes the lowest available cost of your proposed activity; if applying to use funds to travel to a conference or other event, please submit copy of invitation letter, conference paper acceptance letter, or conference announcement. Graduate students also submit one letter of recommendation from a faculty member.

Submit materials as electronic files to china@hawaii.edu. The 2019 deadline for submission of materials is January 25 for activities to be carried out between March 1 and December 15, 2019.