Meet Savannah Katulski County Extension Agent

4-H Experience

Savannah Katulski was a very active 4-H member in Oakland County, Michigan where she participated in livestock projects, shooting sports, cooking, baking, canning, community service, leadership, and public speaking.

Skills and Knowledge Gained in 4-H

Savannah says that her involvement in public speaking, a love of science, livestock management, leadership, and community service as a 4-H member have had significant positive influence in her life. In her words, “I learned how to be a valuable member of society and how to be responsible for something that depended on me (via livestock 4-H).”

From 4-H into the World

Savannah goes on to state, “I would say just about everything I followed in my career path was because of 4-H. 4-H shaped me into a strong woman in agriculture, helped me gain the confidence, public speaking and critical thinking skills to be successful.”

Because of the independence and generosity instilled in her by the 4-H program, she has participated in multiple international medical aid mission trips. As a Livestock Extension Agent she gives back to the community as she helps farmers and ranchers as well as 4-H youth.
