Samar Ranawat, a Rajput prince, is marrying Devyani Singh, a pilot making her the first working woman in the royal household. A lavish celebration of progress and woman empowerment is interrupted when a henna artist is sexually assaulted during an event. Tara and Karan, the wedding planners, need to get the girl justice while making sure the show goes on.