HON 491 (Writing Intensive): Junior Seminar: Leadership
“Leadership”
Mon/Wed 2:30pm-3:45pm
Online
Instructor: Dr. Dawn Morais
This seminar crosses several borders to explore the different kinds of leadership that impact our lives. The quality of leadership in our local communities—school, faith organizations, each island—and in the highest rungs of government, and the power of leadership through solidarity help determine whether we have clean water coming out of our taps, roads that aren’t riddled with potholes, and good public education. It determines whether we can afford to provide for our families, and whether we can respond adequately to climate change, pandemics and more. Leadership can emerge from grassroots organizing or from the arrival of a strong “savior.” Students will hear from different kinds of leaders. They will study the work of nonprofits, advocates and leaders on issues such as prison reform, healthcare, public education, environmental protection, water rights, a living wage, affordable housing and more.
