II. PERSONAL STATEMENT EXPLAINING EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES
The phrase “Extenuating Circumstances” refers to situations outside of your control that affect your overall academic performance and that interfere with your ability to understand a policy or meet a deadline.

Type your personal statement on a separate sheet of paper and attach it to this form.
Your personal statement must include the following:
1. Explain why you are requesting an exception to University policy.
2. Provide a clear, concise description of your extenuating circumstances and a persuasive reason you should be granted this exception when other students are not.
3. Explain why you were unable to meet the published deadline and why you did not seek advising assistance in a more timely manner.
4. If you are requesting an exception for only some of your courses (for example, to withdraw from some courses but not others), explain why. In general, extenuating circumstances impact all courses; if that is not true in your case, explain why.

III. SUPPORTING DOCUMENTATION
The committee reviewing your case cannot grant an exception to policy based solely on your statement; you must also provide supporting documentation for anything you claim. Document your extenuating circumstances with items such as “Instructor Forms” (available online), medical records, police records, airline boarding passes, etc. Dates are especially important.
