

English Department PhD Curriculum Map

Adopted 2010 - 2011

COURSES	Understanding of the discipline of English today and its relationship to other disciplines	Awareness of the contributions of Oceanic and/or Asian cultures to the formation of the field of English Studies in the 21 st Century	Understanding of advanced research methods and/or creative techniques	Ability to demonstrate advanced critical analysis in both written and oral formats	Ability to map, historicize and contextualize 3 specialized sub-fields	College-level teaching skills	Advanced research and or creative skills for book-length publication.
English 605						I
100-/200- Level Apprenticeship						R
GA Teaching (A)						R & M
Asia/Pacific course requirement		I & R	I & R	I & R	I & R		I
ENG course electives	I & R		I & R	I & R	I & R		I
Outside the department electives	I & R						R
Area Exams (A)				M	M	M
Comps/Diss Proposal (A)	R		R	R	R		R
Dissertation (A)	M		M	M	M		M
* I (Introduced), R (Reinforced), M (Mastery), A (point of assessment)								