

Chad Helton is Principal Consultant for Chad Helton Consulting, LLC. In this role, he assists libraries in executive management, coaching and leadership. Over his career, Helton has held progressively responsible roles in both academic and public libraries.

Prior to consulting, Helton led the Hennepin County Library System. Helton has also held executive leadership and management positions at Los Angeles Public Library as the Director of Branch Library Services, and at the Contra Costa County Library as Deputy County Librarian. Helton has held leadership roles at the Palo Alto City Library, Stanford University Green Library, University of California Davis Shields Library, North Carolina State University D.H. Hill Library, and the Davis Library at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Prior to his work in libraries, Helton managed the Community House Homeless Shelter in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Helton graduated with a BA in African-American Studies from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, a Master of Science in Library and Information Studies from Florida State University, and a Master of Public Administration from the University of San Francisco. He is currently pursuing his Doctorate in Education from Vanderbilt University.

Helton has been featured in media and publications, including Minnesota Public Radio News with Angela Davis and USA Today. In addition to his passion for public service, he is an Emmy award-winning documentary producer and a music aficionado.