5. Scope and Content Note

The papers of George McAfee McCune (1905-1948) span the years 1882-1976, with the bulk of the material concentrated in the 1940s when McCune was working in the Office of Strategic Services, Board of Economic Warfare, and Department of State. These records relate to the Korean independence movement actively occurring in Hawai'i; Washington, D.C.; California; and China. The McCune papers constitute an important source for the history of twentieth-century affairs surrounding Korea concerning war propaganda, peace talks, early missionary works in Korea, academic issues on Korea, the Korean independence movement, and the Korea reconstruction project of the United Nations. The papers also include documentation of George M. McCune's research and lecture notes while he taught Korean history at Occidental College and the University of California, Berkeley. The collection consists of Mission, Professional Works, Studying and Teaching, Letters, News, Maps, Korean Reconstruction, and Selected Records of the U.S. Legation, Seoul, Korea (photographic film) series.

The Mission series concerns letters, reports, missionary reports, and serial publications published in Korea.

The contents of the series Professional Works include 1940s records relating to Korean affairs of the period during which George M. McCune served as a social science analyst in the Office of Strategic Services and as an officer at the Korea desk of the Board of Economic Warfare and Department of State. There are interviews and letters with Korean independence movement activists, research materials on Korea, and secret reports on Korean independence movement strategies and plans. While serving in these official positions, McCune was generally recognized as the government's leading expert on Korean affairs.

Studying and Teaching contains records from the periods McAfee spent as a teaching assistant at Occidental College and as a lecturer and associate professor at the University of California, Berkeley. There are some papers and letters relating to an intensive course in the Korean language in the Far Eastern and Russian Language School of the University Extension. Also, this series includes materials on the Yi dynasty chronicles from McCune's research on a Mills Travelling Fellowship in Korea. There are some drafts prepared for his M.A. thesis and Ph.D. dissertation and articles published in journals. Some are drafts of unpublished writings. One interesting sub-series consists of records on the economy of Korea, including economic analysis reports and statistics on mining and agriculture.

Letters includes family letters and business letters. Letters to various family members by George M. McCune and his wife, Evelyn B. McCune, provide a narrative on the life of Americans during and after World War II. Known as an expert on Korean affairs, George M. McCune contacted many researchers, students, statesmen, editors, professors, and Korean independence activists.

The News series spans 1932-1976 and ranges from news clippings to publications in Korea.

The Maps series includes maps of Korea as well as world maps. Some were made by the Army Map Service and used the McCune-Reischauer System of Romanization for Korean geographic names.

The Korean Reconstruction series contains records created for the United Nations and the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency (UNKRA). This series also includes letters whose recipient was Evelyn B. McCune.

The Selected Records of the U.S. Legation, Seoul, Korea (photographic film) series contains reels of 35-millimeter film holding images of selected records of the U.S legation in Korea. The records were photographed by George M. McCune during 1938- 1940. The collection includes both negative and positive duplicates.

6.2. Series 2: Professional Works

Date: 1932-1962

Extent: Six boxes

Format: Printed materials

Language: Mostly English and Korean

Contents:

The contents of this series were mainly created when George M. McCune worked as a social science analyst in the Office of Strategic Services and as an officer at the Korea desk of the Board of Economic Warfare and State Department of State. There are interviews, letters from Korean independence movement activists, research materials on Korea, and secret reports relating to Korean independence movement strategies and plans.

Sub-series 2.1: U.S. government works, 1935-1962, contains four boxes. Box 9 consists of publications published by the U.S. Department of State after the independence of Korea. There are reports, pamphlets, press releases concerning Korea issues such as international relations, truce talks, foreign policy, economy, military, and social changes. Box 18 holds research and analysis reports on the Korean situation by the Office of Strategic Services. Each report runs more than 100 pages. Box 22 contains reports of the U.S. Department of State and Office of Strategic Services on Koreans and independence units, mostly relating to the Korean Provisional Government. Included are secret reports, memoranda, correspondence, maps and press releases. One interesting folder is that for Syngman Rhee, who was the chairman of the Korean Commission. Box 23 holds records relating to Japanese during World War II and contains Japanese war propaganda (mostly illustrations), Tokyo Embassy records, telegrams on the Japanese-Russian war from Asian and European countries, and translated summaries of academic articles published in Japan.

Sub-series 2.2: Korean network, 1932-1951 comprises two boxes. Box 20 contains O.S.S. records relating to Korean independence activities and activists in the United States, including Hawai'i, from 1941 to 1946. George M. McCune had good networks with Korean communities, helping the O.S.S. get credible information on the Korean independence movement and strategic plans for independence from Japan. Included here are letters between George M. McCune and Koreans from The Korean-American Council (한미협회), the United Korean Committee (재미한족연합위원회), the Korean Commission (구미위원부), and the Korean American Cultural Association(한미문화협회). Box 21 contains O.S.S. records relating to Korean independence activities and activists in United States as well as China from 1939 to 1948. Also, included are records relating to the United Korean Revolutionary (한국혁명당), The Korean National Front Federation(조선민족전선연맹), and Sino-Korean People's League(중한민중동맹단). One interesting folder is for Kilsoo Haan, a representative of the Sino-Korean People's League, with headquarters in Honolulu, Hawai'i. There are memoranda, correspondence items, news clippings, and interviews on Kilsoo Haan and the Sino-Korean People's League.

Extent: Seven boxes

Format: Papers

Contents:

Family letters sent and received between George M. McCune's family members; his father (George Shannon McCune, 1873-1941), his mother (Helen Bailey McAfee, 1872-1952), his wife (Evelyn Margaret Becker, 1907-2012), his sisters (Anna Catherine [Kitty] McCune, 1906-1995, and Helen Margaret [Peggy] McCune, 1911-1984), his brother (Shannon Boyd-Bailey McCune, 1913-1993), his brother-in-law (Robert Wells Kingdon, Catherine's husband), his sister-in-law (Edith Emma Blair, Shannon's wife), and his daughters (Helen Louise McCune, 1934- , and Heather McAfee McCune, 1939-). Also included are family records and correspondence from a family lawyer. Business letters are from professors, publishers, and government officers. Names and nicknames of recipients and senders are notated as same as written in the original letters.

Sub-series 4.1: Family, 1918-1948, is contained in four boxes. Box 31 holds letters to George M. McCune and his wife, Evelyn B. McCune. Box 32 contains letters written by George M. and Evelyn B. McCune. Most of the letters are to family members: mother, father, sisters, brothers, and daughters. Box 34 contains letters to McCune's father (George Shannon McCune, 1873-1941) and mother (Helen Bailey McAfee, 1872-1952) written by McCune and his wife. Names and nicknames of recipients and senders are notated as same as written in the original letters. Box 35 contains family financial records including bills, insurance papers, bank papers, property papers, and legal papers. One interesting folder holds correspondence between the McCune family and William C. Phinney, a family real estate broker. Also, there is a folder of correspondence from James B. Hudson, a family attorney.

Sub-series 4.2: Business, 1931-1955, spans three boxes. Box 19 contains business letters from Far Eastern Association, where intensive language program was held in 1946 at Far Eastern and Russian Language School, UC Berkeley, and letters from members of the American Institute of Pacific Relations and records relating to the IPR conference held at Coronado, California, in 1947. IPR letters to Evelyn B. McCune are in Box 17, Korean reconstruction series. Also, in this subseries, there are some files for letters to George M. McCune when he worked in the Office of the Coordinator of Information, Office of Strategic Services, and Department of State. One interesting folder contains letters relating to the Korean Cultural Relations Association. Letters to Evelyn B. McCune relating to the Korean Cultural Relations Association are in Box 30. Korean reconstruction series. Box 26 contains business letters mostly from George M. McCune's colleagues and students. One folder contains correspondence from Robert J. Kerner, who was George M. McCune's doctoral advisor and a professor in history at UC Berkeley. Box 36 contains business letters from publishing companies and correspondence between George M. McCune and people from Foreign Policy and the United Nations. Box 8 and 14 contain the Korean reconstruction series. One interesting folder in this sub-series contains records relating to E. Haimowitz, a musician who held a concert in Seoul in 1947.
