3. Biographical/Historical Note

➤ Susan Chun Lee

Susan Chun was born in 1896 in P'yŏngyang, Korea. She was the youngest of three daughters and a son. Her older brother was reported to have been educated in Western medicine and a practicing medical doctor in Seoul.

Susan Chun graduated from Jinmyung Girls' (Elementary) School in Pyongan in July 1908 and entered Jinmyeong Girls' Middle School in Seoul. Upon completion of one year at Jinmyeong Middle School, Susan transferred to Ewha Hakdang in 1910. She graduated from Ewha (high school level) in March 1912. Upon her graduation from Ewha, she was married to K. S. Lyu (You K. Sung) in 1913/1914. Shortly after their marriage, Lyu was sent to America for education at Boston University, and after graduation he settled and established a business in Los Angeles, CA, under the name of 'K. S. Lyu & Co.' His business distributed general merchandise imported from China with headquarters in Shanghai and Nanjing, China. Susan Chun gave birth to her first daughter, Ok Hei Lyu (later Stella O.H. Lee) on August 12, 1914.

On February 3rd, 1916, Susan Chun received a Japanese passport in Seoul to go to Hawaii to meet her husband. On June 10, 1916, she sailed from Yokohama, Japan, on the Shinyo Maru (Ticket number 12133) with her two-year-old daughter Ok Hei. In Honolulu, she taught Korean language class at St. Luke's Episcopal Church. Sometime in 1917, her husband made a short trip to Hawaii, and Susan gave birth to her second daughter, Ock In Ryu (later Ellen O.I. Craig Choy) on June 1918.

On May 24, 1921, she divorced K. S. Lyu in Hawaii for the reason of desertion and non-support and married Henry Dongbin Lee. Susan C. Lee continued to teach Korean class and tried to promote Korean culture. Although it is not clear when and where Susan learned to play the Korean drum (janggu), she accompanied her daughters' dancing from the 1930s when multi-ethnic cultural programs were sponsored by the Honolulu Academy of Arts (predecessor of the Honolulu Art Museum).

Susan Chun Lee was an active member of the Korean Women's Relief Society and headed the Relief Society for several years in the 1940s. From March 1944, Susan was editor of the Korean Pacific Weekly. Although it is not known how long she kept her position, Susan was the first female editor of the Weekly. During the Korean War, she with many Relief Society members was busy greeting Korean naval ships at Honolulu Harbor. They served Korean food to the visiting naval cadets.

In early 1950s, Susan Shun Lee moved to Los Angeles with her daughter Dorothy. She died in Los Angeles on June 19, 1969 and she was laid to rest next to her husband at Diamond Head Memorial Park.

➤ Henry D.B. Lee

Henry Dongbin Lee (Dong Pin Yi, age 6) arrived in Honolulu on May 8, 1905 with his 31-year old father, Wook Tai Yi (Lee) Dong Bin Lee was enrolled at Mills School (the present Mid-Pacific Institute) and was one of the first group of youngster staying in the River Street campus dormitory in Honolulu. Sometime along the way, Henry moved to Hilo and attended Hilo Boarding School but transferred back to Mid-Pacific around 1917. Henry excelled at school and was Art Director of the Mid-Paicfic annual Ka Anuenue for 1917-1918. Henry graduated in 1918 and not long after graduation he got a job and was working when he got married.

Henry was an assistant chemist at the Waialua Sugar Company and maintained a financially comfortable living in the company's executive housing in Waialua. Henry had 6 children (3 boys and 3 girls) with Susan, in addition to Susan's 2 daughters from her previous marriage. The Lees attended Waialua Korean Methodist Church and Henry assisted Rev. Sa Yong Whang from 1927. From 1928 through 1931, Henry Lee took charge of ministering the Waialua church and from 1932 until 1938 he served as Director of Religions Activities. Along with her husband, Susan taught Korean classes at the church.

Henry Lee served as the basketball coach to the Korean team sponsored by the Waialua Recreation Council and the team won the championship in 1933, 1937 and 1938.

In 1939, Henry was transferred to Castle & Cooke, one of five major companies in Hawaii, and the family moved to Honolulu. Henry was then appointed as Sunday School Superintendent of the Korean Christian Church and his family attended KCC on Liliha Street.

Henry D. Lee died on March 10, 1947 and was buried at Diamond Head Memorial Park.

➤ Residences:

Susan Chun Lee and her husband, Henry D. Lee, as well as their children moved from Waialua, HI to Honolulu, HI in the late 1930's. They bought and lived in several different homes. On March 10, 1947, Henry D. Lee died. Family sold the property and bought another home on Kapiolani Blvd in the mid-1950's. She eventually sold the property and moved to Los Angeles, CA with her son Samuel and daughters, Dorothy and Rose. Between the mid 1950's to the late 1960's, in Los Angeles, CA, she lived in several different homes.

9.2. Biographical note

Henry Dongbin Lee (Dong Pin Yi, age 6) arrived in Honolulu on May 8, 1905 with his 31-year old father, Wook Tai Yi (Lee) Dong Bin Lee was enrolled at Mills School (the present Mid-Pacific Institute) and was one of the first group of youngster staying in the River Street campus dormitory in Honolulu. Sometime along the way, Henry moved to Hilo and attended Hilo Boarding School but transferred back to Mid-Pacific around 1917. Henry excelled at school and was Art Director of the Mid-Paicfic annual Ka Anuenue for 1917-1918. Henry graduated in 1918 and not long after graduation he got a job and was working when he got married.

Henry was an assistant chemist at the Waialua Sugar Company and maintained a financially comfortable living in the company's executive housing in Waialua. Henry had 6 children (3 boys and 3 girls) with Susan, in addition to Susan's 2 daughters from her previous marriage. The Lees attended Waialua Korean Methodist Church and Henry assisted Rev. Sa Yong Whang from 1927. From 1928 through 1931, Henry Lee took charge of ministering the Waialua church and from 1932 until 1938 he served as Director of Religions Activities. Along with her husband, Susan taught Korean classes at the church.

Henry Lee served as the basketball coach to the Korean team sponsored by the Waialua Recreation Council and the team won the championship in 1933, 1937 and 1938.

In 1939, Henry was transferred to Castle & Cooke, one of five major companies in Hawaii, and the family moved to Honolulu. Henry was then appointed as Sunday School Superintendent of the Korean Christian Church and his family attended KCC on Liliha Street.

Henry D. Lee died on March 10, 1947 and was buried at Diamond Head Memorial Park.
