Dr. Sarah Simblet will share her thoughtful insights about the practicalities, meaning and usefulness of drawing in all of our lives. Alongside a discussion of works by other artists, Sarah will focus on a selection of her own work made for her publications in anatomy and botany. This visual talk will also include some of her new drawings made on O`ahu.

Dr. Sarah Simblet is a fine artist and writer, whose work explores the relationship between science, history and art. The author of Anatomy for the Artist (2001), The Drawing Book (2005), Botany for the Artist (2010), and co-author of The New Sylva: a Discourse of Forest and Orchard Trees for the Twenty-First Century (2014), she is dedicated to sharing and encouraging visual intelligence in others through her drawings, teaching and broadcasting worldwide.

Simblet is Director of Studies for Fine Art at Christ Church, Oxford and Tutor in Anatomy at the Ruskin School of Art at the University of Oxford. She teaches Short Courses at The Ruskin School, together with the Royal Academy of Arts, London and lectures at Universities and Botanic Gardens worldwide.
