

Honolulu Community College
is proud to present:

THE DISTORTED LOOKING GLASS: STRUGGLES WITH THE RACIALIZED SELF AND A FILIPI(NO) IDENTITY

The 3rd Annual Social Sciences Speaker Series Talk

Dr. Daniel Eisen

Asst. Professor of Sociology and
Asst. Dean of Strategic Initiatives,
Pacific University
Forest Grove, Oregon.

Thursday,
February 13, 2014
1:30 – 3:00 pm
Norman W.H. Loui
Conference Center
Building 2, Room 201

Dr. Eisen's work focuses on Filipino Identity construction and issues of diversity and inclusion. Specifically his work, which continues today, focuses on (a) why many individuals felt ashamed or embarrassed to be Filipino, (b) how they managed the stigma of being Filipino, (c) how they attempted to manage their presentation of self and the different ways they would identify (e.g., local, local Filipino, etc.), and (d) how they develop an appreciation for being Filipino and felt comfortable finally asserting a Filipino ethnic identity.

Light refreshments to follow in the Loui
Conference Center -- (dinosaur exhibit area)

UNIVERSITY of HAWAII*
HONOLULU
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

For more information, please contact: Fumiko Takasugi, Ph.D.
Department of Sociology • Honolulu Community College
Email: takasugi@hawaii.edu